Dewey Coup Holds Under Hines' Fire

NEW YORK, Aug. 26—Defense Attorney Lloyd P. Stryker battled ineffectually for hours today in an attempt to break down the story of Dudley Brothwell, ruddy-faced riding master of Fairfield, Conn., that on a Sunday afternoon late in August, 1935, James J. Hines visited his stables accompanied by "Dutch" Schultz "and two ladies."

At the time Schultz was New York's public enemy No. 1.

Brothwell successfully resisted every effort of Stryker to weaken his testimony of yesterday when he pointed out Hines as the man who was with Schultz that day. He was positive of his identification.

WIFE ALSO ON STAND

Hines is accused by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of having acted as political "fixer" for Schultz when the latter took over the $20,000,000-a-year policy racket.

A jewel thief, working in the heart of the Quincy business district, escaped with sample jewelry valued at $15,000 this afternoon.

The jewelry, contained in two sample cases, was taken from a parked car belonging to Elmer M. Harrison of Maplewood, N. J., a salesman for J. R. Wood & Sons, jewelers, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Harrison had visited a local jewelry store, carrying his two cases with him. When he came out, he found one tire flat on his car, which he had parked nearby.

Miss Doris Brida, Broadway, Quincy, employed in a furniture store in front of which Harrison's car was parked, told police she had seen a man "fooling around" the car just before Harrison appeared.

Police expressed the belief the man let the air out of one tire purposely.

When Harrison discovered the flat tire, he put the jewelry sample cases in the car, and walked off down the street to find a garage.

Miss Brida said she saw the jewelry thief come back, open the car door and take the jewelry cases out.

The man walked calmly away, she related, and got into another car parked some distance down the street.

Flay Jail Bake 'Torture Mob'

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26—A group of "tough" guards, whose duties Coroner Charles H. Hersch said included punishing unruly convicts, was blamed today for the Philadelphia county prison's deaths in the "Klondike"—a stuffy steam-heated isolation building.

Hersch called this class of guards a mob of "terrorists" and said:

"We're going after members of the mob, and find out how they operated."

He said deaths of four men Monday in the "Klondike"—a 15 by 50 foot building heated by a long line of large radiators, indicated that the building had been used intentionally by some of the guards as a "roaster" for disciplining prisoners.

He said his investigation indicated that a "higher-up" also was responsible for the deaths.

Announcing he "will break the case wide open," Coroner Hersch returned to Holmesburg prison for further investigation of the deaths.

Hersch's assertion that he expected definite action today in the tragic ending of a convict hunger-strike came after he told of this "higher-up."

Just what were the conditions in the steam-heated "roaster" as the men frantically sought water from toilet hoppers will be ascertained by actual experiment as the investigation proceeds. State Superintendent of Welfare Charles I. Engard announced as the triple probe by his department

Deal Maps New Steps In Purge

By GEORGE DURNO

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 26—A conference wound up at the summer White House today that had politicians guessing.

Since lunch-time yesterday, President Roosevelt and Postmaster General Farley were secluded here.

All available information from ordinarily reliable sources seemed to indicate three things:

1—The President will continue his efforts to drive major opponents within his own party out of public office this fall.

2—Reports of a possible rift between Mr. Roosevelt and Farley over the "purge" movement are without foundation, regardless of the postmaster-general's reputed lack of enthusiasm for certain angles of attack.

3—With the distinct approval of Farley, the President will enter Maryland before the September 12 primary to repeat in person to free state Democrats his plea that Senator Millard Tydings be defeated and Rep. David Lewis be sent to the upper house instead.

Farley arrived at Hyde Park yesterday afternoon for lunch. He and the President spent the afternoon together and it ultimately was decided that Farley should remain overnight.

At his press conference today the President said that he and Farley "were in complete agreement as usual" during the political conference.

Asked for comment on reports the Workers Alliance, WPA workers' organization, is trying to raise a $50,000 campaign fund from WPA men, the President said:

"I very much hope that people on relief will not contribute any money for the purpose of aiding any party."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—Chairman Sheppard (D.) of Texas of the Senate campaign expenditures committee advised David Lammie, president of the Workers' Alliance, today not to carry out his plans to raise a $50,000 political fund from donations made largely by WPA workers.

and the coroner's and district attorney's offices revealed details of the tragedy.

TO ENTER HUMAN OVEN

Engard declared two state troopers and officers of his department would enter the cell block under the "same conditions" and turn on the radiators to see "whether the isolation cell was a deliberately planned roaster."

Screaming frantically for relief from the terrific heat, the prisoners fought among themselves for vantage points on the floor where the air was coolest during their nightlong imprisonment, Boyle charged.

"We don't feel," he said, "we should make the identity of this man public at this time. We got our information through quizzing the four prison guards. The guards talked very willingly and we are getting down to the concrete facts back of this slaughter."

Latest activity of Hersch, Assistant District Attorney John A. Boyle and others in the case came after lengthy grilling of Francis Smith, 38, and Alfred W. Brough, 43, the two arrested guards.

Then, the investigators charged, the 25 were herded into concrete boxcar-like structure of the isolation cell block, equipped with large radiators for its 50-foot length, with the temperature outside at 80 degrees, Boyle said, heat turned on and windows were shut air tight, the convicts allegedly were left to swelter in order to end the strike.

"Definite information as to the higher-up who gave the order for the incarceration, punishment and death of the men was obtained," Hersch said, "after lengthy grilling of four prison guards."

The coroner, who earlier announced he had warrants for the arrests of guards and officials in addition to the two guards arrested earlier this week, refused to reveal the name of the "higher-up."

With Monday's breakfast—delayed because guards were carrying trays to the prison population—the story of the sixth major prison outbreak at Holmesburg since 1929 was uncovered.

Four prisoners, Osborn, McQuade, Comodeca and Walters, were found dead on the floors of their four-foot wide cells, Boyle asserted, and left there while guards hurriedly dragged into the open the prostrate forms of other prisoners who had collapsed.

SALT SAVES OTHERS

Treated for heat exhaustion, four of the men were removed to the prison hospital while others were given saline solutions to replace salt lost from their bodies. The four victims, leaders in the strike, died, other prisoners told authorities, because they had been weakened to a greater degree by hunger and exertion than their comrades in an effort to keep the strike "alive."

A repercussion of first phases of the investigation came with the transfer of three detectives from the city homicide squad to other posts by Mayor S. Davis Wilson because they allegedly attempted to "white wash" the inquiry.

Wilson said he acted because of the "palpable falsity" of the detectives' initial report that the men died of "malnutrition, exhaustion and fighting" among themselves in the cell block. The report was turned in shortly after the tragedy was discovered—almost at the moment Hersch and his physician, Dr. Martin P. Crane, were announcing the prisoners died of intense heat.

DEATH STEAMS FOUR—Investigation today was under way in Philadelphia to determine why the isolation cells (bottom) needed so huge a row of steam radiators if the idea was not to bake recalcitrant prisoners into submission. Three of four prisoners who died "when the heat was put on" are shown (center). The door to the Philadelphia jail is above.

City police were ordered out of the investigation by Judge Gerald Flood after the arrests of Smith and Brough.

"Smith proved a most satisfactory witness," Boyle declared, adding that nothing he said, however, implicated Superintendent William B. Mills.

Meanwhile, two other developments showed interest of investigators. One was a final report of Dr. Martin P. Crane on autopsies on the victims. Dr. Crane reported the hearts of the men shrank to half their normal size in the terrific heat of the tiny cell block. Other organs, he said, showed similar signs of dehydration.

At the same time, investigators were probing reports that the heat in the cell may have been turned on much earlier than had been suspected in the punishment of the four hunger-strike leaders and 21 ring-leaders.

"We have learned that Captain James McGuire of the prison staff returned from a vacation at Wildwood which he cut short Sunday," said Coroner Hersch. "It was about 5 o'clock when he went to the isolation block."

TURN HEAT BACK ON

"He found the windows closed and the heat turned on. He ordered guards to turn off the heat and open the windows. Some time later—we don't know when—the heat was turned on again and the windows closed."

"What we want to know, in view of these facts, is whether 'turning on the heat' was a common practice. We want to know if Captain McGuire went to Superintendent Mills and told him he found the heat turned on; or whether this was such a common occurrence that he did not report it."

Rides for This Cop Out, Even in Chariot

The official dignity of Patrolman Arthur Sweeney was somewhat in disrepair today and if Sweeney never sees a horse again, even that will be premature.

Sweeney and a brother officer, Frank Nolan, were sent to the Boston & Maine railroad yards near Lee Burbank highway, where they clipped two 13-year-old boys who were loading rail plates into a decrepit wagon the shafts of which held a shopworn nag.

The two boys were taken back to the station by Nolan in the police car, but someone had to drive the wagon back, so Sweeney, in full uniform, climbed up on the shaky seat and make vague clucking noises.

Sure enough, it was sesame for the hay-burner and he swung into motion. Then, as if realizing from the feel of the reins that there was a typo on the other end, the steed broke into an enthusiastic gallop.

Along Burbank highway, Sweeney sawed on the reins and rode a fine seat, except that intermittently there was considerable daylight evident and then came the bang.

Sweeney's hat jounced askew, his coat-tails straightened in the breeze and his molars clicked with every jounce—and then came into view a band of about 200 WPA workers. As a man they turned and chorused:

"Hi-ho, Silver!"

Sweeney got the rig to the station finally, but his pants were screaming.

New Thrill--Pay Day! Waits Fainter in Job

Dick Hayes—who fainted when he got a job—was working at it—the job—today.

And he was looking forward to a new thrill, that of drawing his first pay!

RICHARD HAYES

He Fainted When He Got This Job

Gets 3 Months In Check Case

A sentence of three months in the House of Correction for the larceny of $5 was imposed in Quincy Court today on Albert Schurman, 32, of Central Park West, New York city.

Schurman was arrested in Woburn by Quincy police on a worth-

A wage-earner, and proud of it, after a two-year hunt for employment, Hayes was spick and span in his busboy's white coat.

He didn't know if he ought to talk to a reporter or not, on his new boss' time.

But the boss, manager of a Beacon street, Back Bay, luncheon room, gave his permission.

So Dick, who is 19 and lives in Plymouth street, Cambridge, told now it felt to have a grip at last on a lower rung of the ladder of success.

"Sure, I fainted when they told me I was hired," he grinned. "It's a wonder I didn't drop dead."

"After two years of turndowns, I couldn't believe it when that employment manager said he had a place for me."

"Now, I've got to get braced for the shock of drawing my first pay."

"Boy, that'll be the day!"

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26—Morose and shaken, Raymond Lee Hughes, 36, was held here today for the murder of his 23-year-old sweetheart, Jean Montgomery, whose mutilated body bore scribbled messages of his anguish and love.

Hughes staggered up to an unbelieving policeman, A. L. Schwardt, and drunkenly blurted a story of murder in the midst of downtown traffic.

"I have just killed my wife," he said.

Noting his apparent alcoholic daze, Schwardt was skeptical.

"I killed her, I tell you, I killed her!" he insisted.

Schwardt still was skeptical, but Hughes was insistent.

The homicide squad rushed to the address of the rooming house Hughes gave and found the mutilated body of the Montgomery girl, still warm, lying on the bed.

She apparently had been beaten and strangled, then cut and laced with a hunting knife. Her nightgown was knotted around her neck. Under the bed, police found a rolling-pin with which she had apparently been beaten on the head.

Tied to her body with a cord was a note reading:

"Honey, I'm sorry I had to do this. I love you. I love you. Your daddy, Ray."

Before he left the Montgomery girl dying or dead today, he also scrawled in pencil on her flesh the words:

"Honey, I love you!"

Toast Sister Beauty Winner

Little Barbara Holland, 4, of Leonard street, Dorchester, was the toast of her neighborhood today after winning the "little sisters" beauty contest of the Roxbury branch of the Boys' Club of Boston.

Barbara, tiny, dark-haired beauty, was all smiles today over her laurels, in direct contrast to her fearful acceptance of a silver statue as first prize winner at the clubhouse.

The contest was limited to young sisters of members of the club. The age range was from 4 to 8 years.

The second-prize winner was Gertrude Curran, 6, of Rockland street, Roxbury, last year's winner, while the third award went to Juanita Byars, 3, of Sterling street, Roxbury.

Surprise Traffic Drive Nets 500

More than 500 motorists were either stopped or "booked" in a city-wide dragnet against speeding, drunken driving and defective equipment in Cambridge today.

Inspector Daniel Doyle of the Registry of Motor Vehicles and Traffic Officers John Grainger, Andrew Trodden and Frank Guloski, Jr., conducted the drive.

Police Shakeup Hits Langone

The "real" reasons behind the new police shakeup were the subjects of much conjecture and "hush-hush" today as the 115 officers affected prepared for their change of stations.

In the North End particularly many stories were in circulation. There, three protégés of State Senator Joseph Langone have been ordered transferred, and those on the "inside" professed to see, in this, an outbreak of hostilities between the senator and Police Commissioner Timilty.

Senator Langone, it was recalled, criticized Commissioner Timilty several times during the legislative session.

KAVANAGH SHIFT

Those "in the know" say Timilty sought to set Langone in his place some time ago by the transfer out of North End station of Captain Thomas S. J. Kavanagh. Kavanagh was a particular friend of Langone and "very acceptable" to Langone's North End organization.

In Kavanagh's place Commissioner Timilty put Captain John Mullen.

The present transfer of "Langone's" three lieutenants is seen as virtually eliminating the Senator's influence with the powers that be in his home police station.

Commissioner Timilty's statement that "90 per cent" of the officers affected by his orders were transferred "at their own request" today generally was regarded with skepticism.

MANY TRANSFERS SOUGHT

Underlying disciplinary motives were seen in many cases.

Transfers to "more favorable" posts, of course, constantly are being requested.

Certain stations are preferred because of opportunities there for "extra detail" work which means extra pay—such as being assigned to dances, fights, ball games and the like.

In-town stations always are considered the more desirable. Toppling list is Station 16, Back Bay, for which there is always a waiting list.

Utterly Happy, Self Hacked Wife Declares

MERCED, Cal., Aug. 26 (INS)—Far from regretful, Mrs. Ola Irene Harwell proclaimed from her hospital bed today that she had made herself "utterly happy" by hacking off her left hand and gouging out her right eye.

Gaining strength after the initial shock and severe loss of blood, Mrs. Harwell, 26-year-old housewife, said she felt she had successfully rid herself of "evil spirits" by performing the crude operations which will leave her maimed the rest of her life. Physicians said her recovery was certain.

The young woman's almost incredible action in removing her own eye and hand followed a family Bible reading service.

Mrs. Harwell, reading while her husband and two children knelt on the floor of their little cabin, had come to the eighteenth chapter of the book of Matthew and read the verses advising, "If thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off... and if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out."

Leaving the cabin, Mrs. Harwell found a pair of shears and an axe, and in a fit of fanatical zeal followed out the scriptural advice to the letter.

Timilty Praised For Fair Shakeup

All of the promotions and appointments announced by Commissioner Timilty in his shakeup order were made from the civil service list. Councilor Clement A. Norton of Hyde Park pointed out today in a commendatory message to the police commissioner.

"You are to be congratulated on making all your promotions and appointments from the civil service list in one, two three order, with no exceptions," Councilor Norton wrote.

"It improves the morale of a police force for its members to know that regardless of influence the civil service list is rigidly adhered to."

"I understand that since you have become commissioner you never have passed a man on a civil service list in order to appoint someone farther down on the list with more influence."

Waldron Death Probe Halted

PITTSFIELD, Aug. 26—Police today were ordered by District Attorney Thomas F. Moriarty to drop their investigation of the death of Mrs. Edith Blair Waldron, one-time wealthy Stockbridge widow, now proved to have died a natural death in a pathological report.

At the same time, Moriarty announced that the woman's husband, William G. Waldron, will be brought back from Vero Beach, Fla., early next week to face charges of larceny in connection with his wife's estate.

Graves Retains Chamberlin As Counsel

Frederick H. Graves, in Charles street jail awaiting trial on charges of perjury, larceny and non-support, has retained Lafayette R. Chamberlin of 30 State street as counsel, it was learned today.

The attorney represented John Sullivan, former proprietor of the old Ritz Hotel in Columbus avenue, South End, during the Garrett case of a few years back.

Admitting that he has been retained as Graves' counsel, Mr. Chamberlin said today that he has made no plans as yet regarding the defense.

Asked if he would attempt to raise the $10,000 double surety, bail for Graves, the lawyer replied: "We don't know."

If the bail is secured, Graves probably will not go to trial until after the primary elections, September 20.

In the event that he does not raise bail, his trial is scheduled to open September 14.

Nazis Seize Photos of Mystery Gun

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—The extreme military importance attached by Nazi Germany to its gigantic new 30-mile cannon, displayed for the first time yesterday, was evidenced today in orders from the general staff to confiscate all pictures of the huge field-piece.

Two of the new guns, the largest seen anywhere in Europe since World War days, were put on display briefly yesterday for the edification of Admiral Nicholas Koryth, regent of Hungary, as part of the determined Nazi campaign to win that nation into the brownshirt hegemony.

Newspaper and still photographers had a field day when the giant guns were uncovered for the first time and military experts told guardedly of their ability to fire accurate shots with amazing frequency at a range of 30 miles or more.

The tremendous sensation caused abroad by news of the big guns prompted immediate steps to keep the new gun a grim secret.

20 Arabs Die, 74 Hurt In Jaffa

JAFFA, Palestine, Aug. 26 (AP)—

A deafening bomb explosion in a crowded vegetable market early today killed at least 20 Arabs and wounded 74 others, ten of them dangerously.

The detonation was heard within a radius of ten miles.

Police raced to the scene and faced an angry Arab mob seeking revenge.

It attacked Barclay's bank, the Anglo-Palestine bank, set fire to many shops and stoned, waylaid and shot Jewish pedestrians who were hurrying to the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv for refuge.

Ten Jews were taken to hospitals after attacks. Police fired on the angry crowds and finally restored order with the aid of troops.

A strong detachment of soldiers hurried to Jaffa from outlying points and armored cars took position on the main streets.

The rioting and blast raised the Holy Land's casualties to 1100—including almost 300 dead—since the embarking of a boat touched off the current chapter of bloody terrorism last July 5.

Los Angeles Paper Fights Contempt Case

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25 (AP)—The Times-Mirror Company, publisher of the Los Angeles Times, prepared for an extended legal battle today over conviction of the newspaper and two executives of contempt of court for publishing editorials commenting on various court cases.

The Times was held in contempt on five counts late yesterday by Superior Judge Emmet Wilson. Immediately, T. B. Cowgry, counsel for the Times, announced an appeal.

Judge Wilson's decision found the corporation guilty on all five counts. He fined it $200 on one count and $100 each on the other four.

In addition, President Harry Chandler was convicted on two counts and fined $100 on each, and Managing Editor L. D. Hotchkiss, also found guilty on two counts, was fined $100 on one and $50 on the other.

Five editorials were involved in the decision—one dealing with the Douglas Aircraft factory's sit-down strike; another with the case of "Queen Helen" Warner, former Los Angeles political power, later convicted in a bribe solicitation case; a third with a labor dispute and a so-called "Goon squad" and the other two with the contempt proceedings.

Polo Star Suicide Inquest in England

EASTRY, Kent, Eng., Aug. 26 (INS)—A formal inquest into the death by gun-shot wounds of Stiles Ewing Tuttle, 27-year-old Baltimore polo player, was opened today.

Coroner A. K. Mowll said: "It is clear that the deceased shot himself."

A friend of the family identified the body as that of the son of C. E. Tuttle, president and chairman of the board of the Rustless Iron & Steel Corporation.

3 Youths Sought In $400 Robbery

Wanted for the beating of a 14-year-old man who was robbed of $400 in cash, three youths were today being sought by police.

Hyman Sagman, of 59 Intervale street, Roxbury, was returning home when the bandit trio seized him in the entrance of the house where he lives. He lost his consciousness when he resisted.

Hurley Called 'Best Governor G.O.P. Ever Had'

By ALFRED D. WHELTON

Governor Hurley today was characterized as "the best governor the Republicans ever had" in campaign speeches by former Governor James M. Curley.

Returning from a tour of communities in the western part of the state, Curley addressed rallies in Watertown and Waltham, where he attacked the present governor for a "do-nothing policy" and failure to bring relief to the unemployed. Curley reviewed his accomplishments as mayor and governor and declared he had successfully overcome the Republican majority in the Legislature during his term of office to provide jobs for the unemployed.

Lieutenant Governor Francis E. Kelly attacked both Curley and Hurley for "aligning" against him at rallies in Jamaica Plain and Brighton.

Kelly declared that Governor Hurley "was despondent because his artificial candidate, Curley, has failed to make any impression on the voters of the Commonwealth."

"I am informed," Kelly said, "that Governor Hurley cannot understand the failure of Curley to divide and disrupt the tremendous Kelly organization."

"Curley failed because the Kelly organization is not composed of professional politicians who can be swayed by honeyed words, promises of patronage or immediate financial gain."

"The Kelly supporters are to be found in the homes and in the ranks of the hundreds of thousands of God fearing men and women of moderate circumstances who constitute the democracy of this great Commonwealth."

Faces Court As Me. Slayer

ELLSWORTH, Me., Aug. 26—Howard C. Merry, 28, formerly of Kingston, Mass., today faced arraignment here in connection with the hammer slaying of Frank Crowhurst, Gouldsboro filling station proprietor, July 2.

Following the arrest of the young garage worker who moved here from Massachusetts two years ago, authorities are investigating a reported love triangle in an effort to establish a motive for the murder.

Attorney William A. Slesky has been retained as Merry's counsel and was to represent him today in the arraignment before Judge William E. Whiting.

Tobin Invites Vets to Boston

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 26—Introduced to chattering delegates as "America's handsomest mayor," Mayor Maurice F. Tobin of Boston today prepared to deliver his address inviting the Veterans of Foreign Wars to hold their 1939 encampment in the Hub.

Four Boston bands and 1000 Massachusetts veterans greeted Mayor Tobin on his arrival at Ohio's capital, forming a parade down the main streets of the city.

At this afternoon's session of the national convention Mayor Tobin was due to make his formal address of invitation.

Jakmauh Move Stirs Protest To Governor

Renewed protests over the nomination of Dr. Paul J. Jakmauh as state commissioner of public health were received by Governor Hurley today from public health, medical and civic associations.

"The present situation is no whit changed by the loss of Dr. Henry Chadwick," it was announced by Curtis M. Hilliard, of the Massachusetts Civic League, following a meeting of 13 organizations at the League's Beacon Hill quarters.

"Trained public health administrators can be had," he continued. "Massachusetts is entitled to one."

The organizations also saw fit to highly commend Executive Councillor Edward T. Collins, of Springfield, for casting his vote with Republicans against Dr. Jakmauh's appointment.

"Councillor Collins was the only Democrat who put the health of the men, women and children of this state ahead of party politics by voting against the nomination last April," Hilliard declared.

Dr. Jakmauh's latest nomination will be voted on by the council on September 6. Included among organizations condemning the nomination were:

Massachusetts Central Health Council, Massachusetts Civic League, Massachusetts Medical Society, Massachusetts Society for Social Hygiene, New England district of the American Association of Medical Social Workers, Massachusetts Tuberculosis League, Massachusetts Nurses' Association, Massachusetts Dental Hygiene Council, Massachusetts Child Council, Massachusetts Organization for Public Health Nursing, New England Health Education Association, and the Boston Health League.

2 G-Men 'Resign' Over Hamilton

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 26 (AP)—The Dallas News said today it had learned from a reliable source that Tom Neal and D. B. Davis, two federal bureau of investigation agents, resigned from the service after failing to capture Floyd Hamilton and Ted Walters, Texas gunmen, in a trap here Sunday.

The News said the two agents rented a house here where the two outlaws were expected to take refuge. The story said that Walters came to the house and was not recognized, and that Hamilton also appeared and fled under gunfire. Dallas police later captured both fugitives.

Sudeten Edict
Alarms Czechs

PRAGUE, Aug. 26—An increase in Czechoslovak tension and possibility of bloody clashes were foreseen today as the result of a Sudeten German proclamation giving party members a "free hand to act in self-defense against provocation and assault by Marxists and Communists."

The proclamation, issued by Sudeten headquarters and alarming to Czechoslovaks, said the leadership otherwise could no longer take responsibility for the safeguarding of property of party members. It charges that Communists and Marxists "deliberately attempt to provoke the Sudetens."

Their object, it was said, is to create the impression that Marxists and Communists still amount to important political factors in Sudeten territory.

Berlin Says Edict Of Sudetens Suppressed

BERLIN, Aug. 26 (AP)—The DNB (official German news agency) published today a Sudeten German proclamation said to have been issued in Praha which, in effect, gave members of the autonomy-seeking minority party freedom to strike back whenever they consider themselves attacked.

Britain to Warn Nazis On Czech Situation

LONDON, Aug. 26 (INS)—Britain's forthcoming important declaration of foreign policy, to be made tomorrow by Sir John Simon, will amount to a stern warning to Chancellor Hitler to exercise restraint toward Czechoslovakia, according to all indications today.

Preparations for Sir John's speech, to be delivered in Scotland before a Conservative party meeting at South Lanark, went forward after the French government reaffirmed to Britain its determination to fulfill its obligations under the Franco-Czech alliance, should German troops march into Czech territory.

Under this treaty, France agreed to defend Czechoslovakia's borders against any invader.

New Offensives Reported In Spain, China

By the Associated Press

Bloodshed continued today in wars in Spain and China and the racial strife between Jews and Arabs in Palestine.

Spanish government dispatches reported insurgent troops were attacking in force north and south of Gandesa in an attempt to flatten the wedge government troops drove a month ago in a sudden offensive across the Ebro river.

Intense fighting raged on the west shore of Poyang Lake in Central China where Japanese forces were driving toward Nanchang.

Sixteen Arabs were killed, 30 wounded by a terrific bomb explosion in a crowded Jaffa market place. The blast touched off furious rioting in the Holy Land.

Fights Transfer Of Loan Office

Protest of the proposed transfer of the New England regional office of the Home Owners Loan Corporation from Boston to New York was made today by Representative Edith Nourse Rogers.

In a letter to John H. Fahey, chairman of the loan corporation, the Lowell member of Congress cited that the transfer would affect nearly 300 employees and that the offices are really needed in this section.

Mrs. Rogers further charged that the corporation did not give sufficient reasons for taking the office out of this area. The Boston office was the first established when the Home Owners Loan Corporation was organized.

Smith Renamed To Labor Board

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt today reappointed Donald Wakefield Smith of Pennsylvania as a member of the National Labor Relations Board.

Smith will serve a term of five years. His present term expires August 27.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor recently discussed the expiration of Smith's term with the President, but said he had lodged no specific objections against Smith.

2 Safe as Wild Truck Kills 3

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Aug. 26 (AP)—Thundering out of control at mile-a-minute speed, a big trailer truck killed three men and overturned in a mass of flaming wreckage, state highway patrol officers reported today.

Driver C. R. Dawson of Alameda and his helper, Leroy Woolfer, rode the truck the length of the death-dealing dash, but escaped virtually unhurt.

Two occupants of a light pickup truck, H. E. Foster and James Marshall, were crushed to death when the runaway demolished their auto.

As the runaway zig-zagged wildly downhill, it ran over and killed W. A. Miller of Bakersfield before the horrified eyes of his wife.

A Japanese, Norio Imamura, driving up the grade in a truck loaded with potatoes, turned his vehicle over a 15-foot embankment and leaped to safety.

Dawson reported the gears of the truck stripped and the brakes burned out.

U. S. Protests Jap Bombing of Civilian Plane

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (INS)—In a stinging note of rebuke, the American government today protested to Japan over the destruction by Japanese war planes of a Chinese commercial airliner near Macao in which 14 civilians are believed to have lost their lives.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, through American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew at Tokyo, informed Japan:

"This attack upon the plane has aroused public feeling in the United States."

Hull lodged:

"Emphatic objection to the jeopardizing in this way of the lives of American as well as other non-combatant occupants of unarmed civilian planes engaged in clearly recognized and established commercial services over a regularly scheduled air route."

The American note gave the lie to the contention yesterday of a government spokesman in Tokyo that all occupants of the plane escaped unharmed after the airliner was forced down on the water, and that the incident occurred only in order to permit Japan war planes to "inspect" the plane.

The American protest was delivered today on instructions from Hull.

'Phantom Bandit' Suspect Is Held

Frederick T. Smith, 22, James street, Boston, was held to the grand jury in $35,000 bonds today when he was arraigned in Quincy District Court on 11 counts of armed robbery.

Police said Smith is the "phantom bandit" for whom they have been searching for more than two months. Three holdups occurred in Quincy, eight in Braintree.

According to police, Smith signed a statement absolving his brother, Robert, arrested with him.

Carroll Learns He Is Named In Third Murder

AUBURN, Me., Aug. 26.—While Warden John Welch at Thomaston state prison expected his visit, Sheriff Rex V. Bridges was on a mysterious mission today in his name of the slaying of John W. Penny, local filling station owner, last May.

Sheriff Bridges was expected to interview Francis M. Carroll and Paul N. Dwyer, both of whom are serving life for the murder of Dr. James G. Littlefield of South Paris.

According to a story given the sheriff, Carroll was seen quarreling with Penny on the night of the filling station slaying, while according to Warden Welch, he was told by Dwyer that Carroll several times had attempted to borrow money from Penny.

It was principally on Dwyer's story that Carroll recently was found guilty of the Littlefield murder, to which Dwyer once confessed.

In solitary confinement since his commitment from South Paris, Carroll has not seen any of the headlines which link his name with this slaying.

His first news of it will come when he is taken from "solitary" to answer questions by Sheriff Bridges of Androscoggin county regarding the Penny murder.

Sheriff Bridges will also question Dwyer, schoolboy sweetheart of Barbara Carroll.

It was the voluntary testimony of George C. Violette which suddenly exploded a bomb under the long dormant Penny mystery.

And, by a strange coincidence, at almost precisely the same moment young Dwyer had sent for John H. Welch, warden of the state's prison, to "tell some things you ought to know."

Dwyer declared that Carroll had tried to borrow money from Penny.

There was a definite move on to remove Penny's body from the vault in Mechanics Falls prison. The purpose of this, it was admitted, would be to determine if the slain man's head bore the same "triangular shaped marks" which were on the battered head of Dr. Littlefield.

N. H. Veterans Open Reunion

FIREBUG HUNTED

HOYTON, Aug. 26.—Local and state police today searched for a firebug believed to have set fires which destroyed a modern dairy and garage on the Shattuck farm, with loss of $20,000, and burned a private garage on Glover street threatening two dwellings.

Lindys Hop For Czech City

MOSCOW, Aug. 26 (AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh left Moscow by airplane today for Czechoslovakia after a nine-day visit packed with intensive study of various phases of Soviet Russian civil and military aviation.

They planned to see something of the Ukraine, in southwestern Russia, on their way. Their intention was to visit Rostov on Don, Kharkov, Kiev and Odessa. They said they might land briefly in Baltimore, as they are expected to arrive in the United States on September 17.

Hull Stern in Mexico Demands

expropriated and making prompt and just compensation for the expropriated property.

His first proposal was that the matter be arbitrated by an outside commission from the American republics under the treaty of 1923.

ONE OTHER WAY

This has again renewed, but added an alternative in the form of a commission, composed of an American and Mexican member with in the event of disagreement, a third arbitrator member to act as sole arbitrator. The third member, he proposed, would be selected by the permanent commission at Washington provided under the Gonsales treaty.

Should Mexico accept this alternative means, Hull stated, the United States demands that the compensation be named "immediately."

He further demanded that Mexico make a compensable part of the expropriated property and compensation be made in escrow.

Without parallel

"Reduced to its essential terms, the contention asserted by the Mexican government as set forth in its reply, and as evidenced by its practices in recent years, is plainly this:

"That any government may, on the ground that its municipal legislation so permits, or on the plea that its financial situation makes prompt and adequate compensation onerous or impossible, seize properties owned by foreigners within its jurisdiction, utilize them for whatever purpose it sees fit, and refrain from providing effective payment therefor, either at the time of seizure or at any assured time in the future."

"I do not hesitate to maintain that this is the first occasion in the history of the Western Hemisphere that such a theory has been seriously advanced."

"In the opinion of my government, the doctrine so proposed runs counter to the basic precepts of international law and to the law of every American republic, as well as to every principle of right and justice upon which the institutions of the American republics are founded."

"It seems to the government of the United States a contention alien to the history, the spirit and the ideals of democracy as practiced throughout the independent life of all the nations of this continent."

"The policy of expropriation of these lands without any payment as required by law and equity and justice, places this government in a situation where it must either assert and maintain with all vigor the doctrine of just compensation, or else acquiesce."

Daladier Sees France Fascist

PARIS, Aug. 26 (INS)—The Daladier cabinet today took the "step" of declaring that France is now a Fascist country. The premier issued his statement in a declaration in addressing the Chamber of Deputies. In which he announced that the cabinet had decided to declare France a Fascist country.

The cabinet also decided to declare France a Fascist country.

in the repudiation and abolition of that doctrine. Obviously, it cannot adopt the latter course."

"ASTONISHING" THEORY

Hull described as "astounding" the Mexican theory that individuals may be "stripped" of their rights and properties by a government to promote equality of citizens. He asserted:

"It is far from legitimate for Mexican government to attempt to justify a policy which in essence constitutes total confiscation by raising the issue of the wholly inapplicable doctrine of equality."

Referring to Mexico's recent reply rejecting his first note, Hull asked:

"In introducing the proposal so made, is the government of Mexico prepared to agree that no further taking will take place without payment?"

Court Rules Chick in Jug Raising O.K.

WESTMINSTER, Md., Aug. 25 (AP)—Lester M. Mott, 26, of New York, was ruled today by a judge to be a "chick" in a jug raising contest.

The judge was "recorded" by a sample docket entry, "not guilty." "That is all there is to it," said the magistrate. "That is my finding in the case."

Magistrate Mott took the case to the Westminister Court after a motion picture of the contest was shown. Mott was charged with raising a chick in a jug, which is against the law. The judge ruled that Mott was not guilty.

Future Germs Will Create Chemicals, Science Finds

By GOSWAMI BEHARI LAL
International News Service Science Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (INS)—A new era of producing chemicals, which by turning germs into workmen was forecast today by Professor W. H. Huggins of Columbia University, one of the leaders of chemical engineering science.

Microscopic dwarfs, many types of germs, yeasts and molds, will play a far greater part in future chemical production than in the past and present, according to Dr. Huggins.

One of the surprises of future microbiological chemistry might be the employment of even cancer cells and other animal body tissues grown in test tubes by the Alexis Carrel and similar methods.

Individual cell colonies, such as bacteria, or their closely-bound aggregates, such as the animal and plant tissues, are really chemical engines, potent producers of energy by chemical processes. Said Dr. Huggins.

"Since Louis Pasteur's time, much time and money has been devoted to the study of the disease germs. For large scale chemical production, the non-disease germs have been obviously of greater importance."

"The micro-organisms, unlike large plants and animals, are too small to be seen, except under the microscope."

"Filamentous fungi may be one-fourth of an inch, yeast cells are .000001, and bacteria are .000001, and protozoa are .000001, and some of them are an inch in diameter. Professor Raymond H. Rogers and I published these details in the Journal of Chemical Education. Recently discussing microbiological chemistry."

"Bacteria, like human beings, require energy to live, grow, reproduce themselves. When they are in sugar or some other nourishing solution, they liberate energy, some or all of which they use."

Boston Voters Break Record

Yesterday's registrations totaled 1546. Of these, 327 were at City Hall, 1019 at registration booths in city wards.

Previous primary record was in 1936, when the total of registered Boston voters was 319,736.

U. S. to Test 'Borstal Plan'

NORTHEAST HARBOR, Me., Aug. 25 (AP)—Plans to experiment here with the so-called "Borstal system" for juvenile offenders were being discussed today by a committee of the American Law Institute.

Dr. William Henry, director of the Judge Baker Guidance Center, Boston, outlined the new system which takes its name from Borstal, England, where it was started several decades ago.

"These institutions are not reform schools," Dr. Henry said. "They are more like private schools for boys and young men."

"The term of these offenders is three years and when they leave they are turned over for one additional year to the Borstal Association, who keep a watchful eye on the boys, see that they get jobs and help them in other ways."

South Boston's Ghost Busy

South Boston's ghost was busy today, thousands of persons as it piled back and forth on the side of an Old Harbor street dwelling house, disappeared with daylight today, but was a safe bet to show up again tonight.

So great was the throng of awed spectators that occupants of the house called police.

The phantom is formed by shadows and tremors, as rays of a street light pass through a tree.

Box 12-1634? It's a Sizzler!

Excitement prevailed in fire department headquarters on Bushnell street today when the "Box 12-1634" sounded.

Engine Company 3 and Ladder Company 3, housed in the headquarters building, pointed out and were joined by three other engine companies. Another ladder company, the engine squad and a water tower the fire department's "sizzler" self, and the fire chief.

Box 12-1634 is the box in front of the headquarters.

The fire was a brief, flaming of gas furnace, the maintenance garage. It was out by the time the engine arrived.

Mattern's Club Exclusive

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26 (AP)—Jimmy Mattern's new club is exclusive, and he thinks it will remain so.

Mattern, who says he is one of only nine persons who have flown the Atlantic Ocean alone, announced the founding of the "Transatlantic Club" today.

He named as charter members

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, Amelia Earhart, Captain Wiley Post, James Mollison, Lieutenant John Wilkins, Mrs. Bertha Markham, Jean Batten, Douglas Corrigan and himself.

Mattern thinks the club will remain exclusive because, he said, most transatlantic crossings of the future will be by navigation crews only, as accompanied Howard Hughes in his recent world flight.

2 Girls Confess Robbery Slaying

FAIRFIELD, Conn., Aug. 26 (AP)—The slaying of a wealthy 35-year-old woman of Sunday was solved today by a confession of two young ladies, 19 and 17, who admitted the part of their extremely nervous confession to Sheriff Ernest E. Pratt.

Parkett and Mrs. Jane E. Pratt, 22, and Hannah Hennessey, 17, admitted slaying the woman in a room in a robbery attempt, but each blamed the other for being the fatal shot.

John Wallace, 25, was arrested at Fairfield today on the strength of their story that he was the instigator of the plot.

The two girls, having worked out their story, said they had been together for a week and had been together for a week.

Wallace told me: That old boy's got plenty of dough. You go pick him and come back. Boy.

Trial Drama—Artist Paul Frehm portrays a tense moment in the trial of James J. Hines, accused of policy racket conspiracy in New York. The climax came when Prosecutor Dewey asked Riding Master Dudley Brothwell to step from the stand and point out the man who visited his stables with Racketeer Dutch Schultz. Brothwell pointed to Hines. "That man there," he said.

on a back yard spin . . . look out! Oh, what's with that fractured skull!

Must have been a blow out, huh? Well, never mind. Sammy is the doctor here. First aid . . . and how!

BOSTON AMERICAN

BOSTON, FRIDAY, AUGUST 26, 1938

Wake Up, America!

The Editor Says:—The Dies Congressional Committee investigating un-American activities has demonstrated even this early in its work that Communists are seeping in everywhere in our political, educational and industrial organizations.

Mark Sullivan, author and Washington correspondent, draws for us this startling picture in the New York Herald Tribune of what is REALLY happening in this country:

If a million Soviet soldiers were on American soil to impose on us the Communist form of society and government, America would realize what was under way. Yet the movement to take America toward the Communist conception, as indicated by the Congressional investigation, is going forward more effectively than a million Soviet soldiers could accomplish. Soldiers we would see and resist and drive out. The influences actually at work are in many cases secret, or covered on under camouflage, or are otherwise difficult for the people to recognize.

These "soldiers of Communism" NEVER SLEEP.

They are what Professor Harry Elmer Barnes calls "The Holy War Boys." They have the unscrupulousness of all fanatics.

It is this technique of SILENT WORMING in that precedes all sudden revolutionary coups.

Inertia and "passing the buck" are two of our national political weaknesses.

ACTION against Communism must be IMMEDIATE on the part of the American people.

There is an INVASION OF AMERICA right now in process.

WAKE UP, AMERICA! or you will suddenly find, some day, that you have lost your precious heritages from the Founding Fathers.

JUST PRAISE is given newspapers by Mr. John U. Stoddard and Company, public relations advisers.

He points out that of 263 business leaders who responded to a recent questionnaire sent out by the New England Council, 63 percent considered newspapers the MOST IMPORTANT MEDIUM for reaching their communities with information of public importance.

Commenting further on the results of the Council's survey, he says the largest number of business men give PUBLIC LACK OF KNOWLEDGE of the problems of industry and the FAILURE OF INDUSTRY TO INFORM the public as the principal obstacles to relations between business and the public.

We agree with the business men; there should be a "CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION," through which manufacturers, industrial merchants could submit their case to the people.

Businessmen have too long had nearly exclusive occupation of the public forum to din their crackpot fallacies into the ears of the people.

It would seem that economic methods, which have produced national income and being ENVIED BY THE WHOLE WORLD, are indefensible?

It is time to tell the people a STRAIGHT STORY about how far we can expect all persons to know the truth about the American system and have confidence in it if they hear only the false and malicious opinions of those who hope to DESTROY it.

It is an American characteristic to want to hear both sides of a story. And the past can be considered an indication of the future, the American people will never turn a deaf ear to the TRUE SIDE.

The Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26

WHILE the New Deal purge of the Democratic Party proceeds apace, the people, consciously or unconsciously, have been taking a hand in their own destiny.

Events already have pretty well altered the complexion of the rubber stamp Ways and Means Committee, of the House of Representatives, which in the present Congress jammed through a tax bill as bad as business was asked only when that House led the Senate to the rescue.

The Ways and Means' bids have been dropping in the primary-like fires in the first Fall term.

TWO DEMOCRATIC members of the most potent committee in the House, which not only frames all revenue measures, but which also makes up all other Democratic committee dates, have shriveled up with their toes in the air. These are Morgan's Sanders, of Texas, and Charles A. Piller, of Arkansas.

Three others have dropped out. Fred M. Vinson, of Kentucky, who resigned to go on the Federal bench, David J. Lewis, who is running for the Senate on MacRobert as the hand-picked White House far-haired boy, and O. D. Weaver, of Iowa, who tried for the Senate, only to fall down an ego beam.

THIS MAKES five Democratic vacancies in the Committee when will be charged with the task of initiating America's new tax law, to try to stem the tide of deficit. Lloyd Thurston, Republican, of Iowa, is also out, so six vacant places already exist on this powerful body.

Three other Democratic members, Frank B. Rowland, of Ohio, Arthur Lammie, of Ohio, and John D. Dingell, are going to have plenty of trouble in the November elections. When Congress meets in January the great Ways and Means Committee will recognize a posse of six vacancies.

A NEW TAX LAW will be definitely introduced for the January session. Year in and a year out, the government or some third party without delay.

Twice in recent years, in 1935 and again in 1937, Congress passed laws designed to remove active tax laws. Some in Washington have dabbled with the idea of making the new tax law apply to 1934 income.

Theoretically Congress will have the power to do that. Actually the absence of Ways and Means as full of holes makes the prospect remote.

Ordinary Ways and Means would meet in November to begin framing a new tax bill. But with a minimum of six new members coming on in January the Committee could hardly function.

AT HEADS it will probably be late in January before the Committee will be ready with a new schedule of taxes. It would be a miracle if the new bill could reach the Senate by February 1.

Then will come a long struggle, and on March 15 people will pay their first installments on their 1934 taxes. So that's that.

Ways and Means has suffered thus far more severely than any other House Committee.

Meanwhile, debts, defeats and resignations are playing havoc with the 75th Congress, and new faces will be as common around the Capitol in January as at a Spring training camp.

The Brighter Side

History Distortion Irks Movie Goer

By DAMON RUNYON

Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. International copyright secured and all other rights reserved.

ONE OF our fellow cash customers of the movies grabbed us the other night as we were going into Lindy's to spear a herring. He had just come from viewing a picture with a background of alleged history and he was quite indignant. He also had a big idea.

He sat down with us and absent-mindedly ate half our onion that legally goes with a herring, and tried to induce us to join him in a movement to organize all the movie cash customers who have children and file damage suits against the makers of the historical pictures.

He said that in practically every case where a picture deals with history, it gives history an awful pushing around.

He argued that this represents irreparable financial damage to the parents of children and held that no jury of reasonable men and women would refuse them compensation if they sued.

He pointed out that parents pay enormous sums of money to have their children taught history in truthful form in the schools and colleges of the country. The money goes into the pockets of the children and into the school buildings and for school books and teachers' salaries. Then after this expenditure of time and money in reaching the kids in history, what happens?

Why, he said, along comes the movie makers to distort the facts of history, if not to commit downright falsehood about them, and the picture versions tend to completely destroy the truth, thus wiping from children's minds the patient teachings of years.

He said he believed that if we put a sophisticated lawyer every parent who could prove that a child in which money had been invested in having it taught the truth about history but which had conceived the movie version thereof, could recover damages for all that dough.

He imagined the verdict in each case would be based to some extent on the age of the child and the length of the time devoted to making it understand that Washington crossed the Delaware river and not the Sacramento, as the movies may one day endeavor to show. He asked us if we had any children and we said two and then he wanted to know why we had not filed suit long ere this.

WE ASKED the infuriated cash customer why he did not sue on the account of his own children and he said that was just it. He said he is a bachelor and it burns him up to see this opportunity for a little quick money laying there and he unable to take advantage of it. He said he was thinking of suing the movie malfactors of history for damages that would have accrued to his children if he had any children.

Of course, the movie makers juggle history has long been a source of some comment, though we must say no one has ever before suggested reprisals. We are not inclined to take the matter seriously because we do not think it makes much difference to history. As a matter of fact, we rather admire the gall of those movie makers for the liberties they take.

AS FOR THE EFFECT IT may have on the next generation, we can dismiss that now. If the movie makers do not make better pictures than some we have viewed lately in our capacity of cash customer the next generation will not be going to the pictures, as it will never learn what the boys have done to history. That will be a pity because all generations should be informed of the startling influence Miss Greta Garbo and Miss Norma Shearer have had on history in the home.

They tell us that has often been printed but who may still be new to some readers about how Arthur Cressley, a brilliant writer, once compiled a scenario for a movie maker not there in Hollywood on the life of Napoleon and the movie maker said he did not like the story because it did not have a happy ending.

"All right," Mr. Cressley said, "We can fix that. We will have Napoleon win the Battle of Waterloo."

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

WHEN a multi-million-dollar heiress makes a failure of her Noble Experiment in matrimony, and cries quits, it doesn't necessarily mean that she is spoiled and capricious and hard to please.

It merely means that she has too much MONEY!

For one marriage that is wrecked by infidelity or bad temper, there are NINETY-NINE shattered by income-patibility. Too LITTLE money may be the more common complaint; but too MUCH money is the greatest handicap a woman can have in the search for love and happiness.

When you see two nice, normal, intelligent people facing each other in the Divorce Court and hear them accusing each other of all sorts of impossible things, you may be fairly certain that the history of their troubles could be written on a greenback, and that the WILLAIN in the case is OLD DOLLAR BILL.

Sometimes it's the man's money, but more often it's the WOMAN'S money.

Sometimes it's lack of money and sometimes it's an OVER SUPPLY of money.

And sometimes, it's just the battle over WHO SHALL HANDLE the money, and HOW it shall be spent.

There are a hundred ways in which the money problem can wreck a perfectly good marriage.

Many a couple who would have strung along happily together all their lives on a small weekly salary, have taken separate roads the moment they could afford two automobiles.

"So-and-so doesn't live here anymore," will be the reply of Old Harbor superintendents to inquiries for tenants who subscribe to any scheme for mass action politically. The situation was foreseen and regulations of the housing authority make immediate dispossession the penalty.

Joe Wicks who posed a small band at the Elm Tree of the Hyde Park, having the fifth week of an eight week engagement at the Green Hill in Providence. Teddy Ray, a Boston favorite because of his song singing at the Theatre Club, will sing a last round here on Lawrence.

Also Finn sustained a broken leg "in line of duty" at the Casa Madrid last Saturday night, word has reached here rather belatedly.

Ruben Bodenorn, the Boston artist, is designing a new supper-hall for Harry Richman at the Hotel Delmonico, New York.

Tennis Still Holds Society's Interest

By BETTY ALDEN

SAILS remained furled . . . fleet foisted themselves upon their daily center over North Shore hills and dunes . . . and bathing suits swung idly on clotheslines . . . all temporarily neglected by their sociable owners who have become completely tennis minded . . . at least for the duration of the National Doubles tournament at the Longwood Cricket Club . . .

Thrills aplenty rewarded the hundreds of North Shore tennis fans who drove up to Caesarsuit Hill for yesterday's matches. Since the day's program began before luncheon and lasted until nearly seven, there were numerous jolly get-togethers at The Country Club for a snack of luncheon between matches... or a leisurely dinner in the evening before the long drive back to the shore.

Mrs. F. Wadsworth Busk gave a small luncheon party at The Country Club to help console Kay Stammers and Margot Lumb, the English girls, who had just lost their match against Alice Marble and Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, Wimbledon champions. Later Mrs. Busk returned to see the rest of the program with Olivia Ames.

Sport lovers find it rather unusual to see Joan Tozzier and her skating partner, Bernard Fox, sitting on the sidelines. For Joan and Bernard are national figure skating champions, and Fox more a natural going for the 1000 in exhibition numbers, than sitting in the grandstands where other champions occupy the spotlight for tonight's event. He also skated yesterday . . .

Mrs. C. Huntington Harlow made a threesome with her daughter, Peggy, and her neighbors' lively brides-to-be, and Betty Albers, who will be one of her bridesmaids . . . Peggy wore a becoming dress of pale green, with a pleated front and tiny rosebuds printed all over it. . . . Betty, who always looks like a flash on plate, chose a turquoise-blue wool dress with a dusty pink jacket top.

Mrs. Hamilton Osgood Attends

MRS. CHATFIELD WHITMAN made an attractive appearance in a black silk dress printed with large chartreuse daisies, and long chartreuse gloves to match . . . Mrs. Louis B. Hawes came over from Cambridge to sit with friends, and Susannah Ayer attended with her mother, Mrs. James Bourne Ayer . . .

A quartet of North Shoreites occupied Russell Codman's box . . . including Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sears, Jr., Nancy Cochrane and the host himself. . . . The biggest parool we ever saw protected Mrs. Hamilton Ogden's fair complexion from the sun as she strolled over the grassy lawns with her younger . . . It was an oriental affair not much smaller than a beach umbrella.

Elizabeth Motley was a vivacious companion for her escort . . . her auburn curls glistening in the sun above a tailored gray dress . . . Tax 'Reserve'
Hit by Haney

By LEWIS HANEY

Professor of Economics, New York University

EAST JAFFREY, N. H., Aug. 26—Yesterday, I discussed certain points in a defense of the social security "reserve," which has been put forth by a government official.

His main argument is that no payroll tax is really necessary, and that therefore we may ignore the fact that taxes actually are collected. He concludes that although the security taxes which are actually received by the New Deal administration are used for all sorts of purposes, these are not the same as the taxes which are collected.

Among the various points which he makes, is the assertion that the security "reserve" is like the method of paying the World War veterans their bonus certificates.

But one big difference is that no special taxes were imposed to pay the bonus. The veterans were not taxed. Their employers were not taxed. No form of tax was collected by the government. The bonus was furnished after the fact.

And in the way we pay the bonus, it is similar to the New Deal's method of paying the security "reserve" which is a form of currency.

This one appears to think that these "psychological" effects on business are not important, although the fact is that inflation becomes effective only through a demand for goods and that credit is a necessary part of the process.

He further admits that, despite the advice of his fabled "President's Committee of Economic Security," the Social Security law actually passed, is supposed to be (1) "fully financed" from the outset, and (2) assessed entirely against the groups to be benefited.

This proves that the "reserve" is not to be paid out of a fund, but is a form of currency.

Anyhow, what sense would a "reserve" liability make if it were not specifically set against a particular asset? That is what is done in the case of the security "reserve" which is set against the New Deal's "reserve" fund.

The depreciation reserve in the corporation, however, is deducted from the depreciation account to which it refers.

But the security "reserve" is not a form of currency, but is a form of currency.

In this connection, the author made the point that the security "reserve" is not a form of currency, but is a form of currency.

Good
News

Barring unforeseen events in politics and industry, machine tool manufacturers are expecting a steady increase in orders over the remainder of the year. August sales, it is reported, will show a good increase over July.

After a lull of several weeks, West street dealers, in New York, report a sharp jump in buying interest. This week's volume slipped back close to the record levels of early July and observers are forecasting a new wave of consumer buying.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, August 26—With miscellaneous demand developing for steel products, plants in this district have speeded up output and finishing mills are working on improved schedules.

NEW YORK, August 26—Brokerage sentiment is currently being aided by reports of important steel buying. Latest instance is a report that the fund directors of a large university are purchasing General Motors in liberal amounts.

NEW YORK, August 26—In reflection of a strong demand, Pennsylvania natural oil prices have been advanced from one-half to a cent per gallon. These high grade oils are used in blending lubricants.

WORCESTER, August 26—The management of American Steel and Wire reports a pickup in operations in the past 10 days that has resulted in increasing the hours of employed workers.

HOURLY
PLAY-BY-PLAY IN THE STOCK MARKET

Stocks tapped at the portals of the mid-year recovery peak today, but, as on several recent occasions failed to get through. In an active first hour prices dashed forward from fractions to around a point. When buying orders were filled the market took on an uneven tone. Light profit-taking resulted in many dips. A number of issues climbed to fresh highs for the year at the outset.

10-11—Quiet strength exhibited*

By motors and rails attracted fresh buying power at the outset. Leaders moved up fractions to around a point, some getting into new high ground for the year. There was a fair amount of activity at the opening, but the pace slowed down later and near the second hour the ticker tape inclined to lag. General Motors opened on a tick of 5000 shares at 50. Several other large blocks changed hands at minor advances. Among those touching new 1938 peaks were Chrysler, Briggs & Stratton, L. I. & W. & N. & National Electric. Improvement was shown by Law's U. S. Steel, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Bendis, General Edison, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake & Ohio, Anacosta, Kennecott, General Electric and Johns-Manville. Business prospects continued as the main market prop. Factors said. The upsurge was 10,000 shares.

11-12—The volume dwindled in the second hour and prices became mixed. While some of the selected issues revealed gains many of the neglected issues slipped behind in the course of the hour. The market's equipment and adjustments indicated a degree of popularity. The volume was in evidence in some of the issues which have shown exceptional strength in recent trading. General Motors was favored by many of the traders but eventually the issue backed down from its early high and then showed a loss. There appeared to be a moderate amount of support under the coppers, steels and rails. Commodities were uneven. The volume was 430,000 shares.

12-1—Light profit-taking continued and markets were uneven during the third hour. The selling in steels and motors chilled the buying urge. A survey of the day showed that new highs for the year were marked up by Kennecott, Auto-Lite, Waukegan, Johns-Manville, Pathe and American Tobacco. Most of the issues were in response to the outlook for the 1938 automobile manufacturing season. Subjunctive and light shares as Consolidated Edison advanced a degree of popularity, it was believed, largely because new have been well behind the rest of the market. Mailing picture issues came to life on the realization the dull summer season is nearing the end and that soon larger attendance will increase earnings. Sales stood at 800 shares.

1-2—Prices drifted over a narrow range and traders seemed to lose interest in the market. Dealings were exceptionally slow. The two leading mail order issues, Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck were in demand following the announcement that Montgomery directors voted a 25-cent dividend the same as paid last quarter. Sales volume is picking up for both of these concerns and the inventory situation is in good order. Support was secured by Consolidated Edison America's West, Waukegan, Chesapeake & Ohio, Paramount, Twentieth Century Fox, Decca, Amstar and J. C. Penney. I. & W. & N. & National Electric were official contributors of last week's fight bond drive. Volume was slightly more than 500,000 shares. The volume stood at 70,000 shares.

Utility Bond
Offering Big
SuccessBy HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

The speed with which investors subscribed to the offering of Consolidated Edison's new $10,000,000 utility bond issue, indicates that the public is still confident of the future of the utility industry. The issue was sold out in less than a week, a record for the industry.

EASIER TO RISE

There is no escaping the conclusion that the stock market finds it easier to rise than fall. Despite this week, have failed to bring out offerings in volume and bulls take such action as a sure augury of new highs. For our part we still cling to the old attitude of waiting until the July peaks have been surpassed before doing anything.

The much abused "bull market" is a term which has been used for years to describe a market which is rising. It is a term which has been used for years to describe a market which is rising.

STATE ST. NOTEBOOK

The aircraft industry is in line to derive a good boost if current experiments with a non-stop pickup-and-deliver mail plane are successful. Taxes on gasoline do not seem very burdensome but they amounted to just 12 cents as much as the total 1.5. Mint nickel postage last year, which means about 3 cents on each gallon of gas sold. Back in 1933 there was panic when the gold reserve fell under 100 million. It now stands at over 15 billion.

Farm Products

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—Farm products prices are at a four-year low. The price of wheat is at its lowest since 1934. The price of corn is at its lowest since 1934. The price of soybeans is at its lowest since 1934.

Urge Bethlehem
Shift Bargaining

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (INS)—A trial examiner of the National Labor Relations Board recommended that the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp. discontinue its plan of employee representation at both the company's Bethlehem shipyard and its Quincy, Mass. yard. The plan, which was adopted in 1935, provided for the election of a committee of employees to represent them in bargaining with the company.

Why Jim Maloney Is Opening a Restaurant

ALSTEN LABBE

I have often heard Mr. Barney Fox, the old trainer at Buckley's fight studio on Broad Street, give truly lovely renditions of "The Rose of Tralee" on Maloney's nude limbs. It seemed to each Mr. Maloney, so that he sometimes gave Mr. Fox another limb. ~~Maloney~~ asked him to play, "Mother Macbrree." Mr. Maloney was very partial to Irish rhythms on his stark, naked parts.

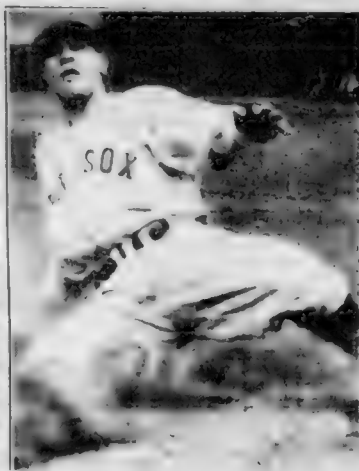

Only he will be lucky to break even with this arrangement unless he pays his weight in tax. That would be a good incentive.

Sonja to Come Back to Garden

Brown Plans for Three Ice Shows

By JACK CONWAY

WALTER BROWN has been spending hot summer days to sign ice carnivals and a ski show for the Garden.

"I just returned from New York where I talked with Hugo Quist, manager of Sonja Henie," said Walter. "Hugo is busy arranging another ice carnival which will feature Sonja. The costumes used in Sonja's show last year are owned by Twentieth Century-Fox, and Quist is trying to purchase them.

"You are pretty safe in saying Sonja will show at the Garden during the coming winter.

"Sonja is in Norway, but will return to this country in September.

"We never had an attraction at the Garden that compared with Sonja. This was due to Sonja's own personality and charm, to her brilliant skating ability, and to the tremendous build up she received in the movies. We had people come all the way from Canada to see Sonja at the Garden."

I asked Walter if the "Ice Follies" would return to the Garden.

"I have the 'Ice Follies' under contract," was the quick reply.

"Personally I thought last year's 'Ice Follies' was the greatest show of its kind ever to come to Boston.

"The new show has been in rehearsal at Atlantic City where it has clicked with Summer visitors.

"There is a possibility we shall have a third ice carnival. There is a good ice show at Billy Rose's place in New York, but it wouldn't be strong enough for the Garden. If I can combine this show with another ice show that has been showing in the East, we might have something for the Garden."

Chilean Mountaineers May Come Here

REACHING OUT for a special attraction for the ski show that opens at the Garden on November 30 and continues through December 4, Brown is considering signing a Chilean mountaineer drill team.

"The ski show was a bit from the start," said Walter. "As it was was 100 per cent my own idea, I am quite proud of it.

"I would like to give the ski show a special attraction, and a Chilean mountaineer drill team might be just the thing."

Amateur Hockey Has Been Hit

AMATEUR HOCKEY will once more receive considerable attention at the Garden and Arena. Last season these games often drew 12,000 to 14,000 people.

"The sure teams in the league will be Boston, Springfield, Sherbrooke, Valleyfield, Shawinigan Falls and Lachine," said Brown. "There will be two other cities represented, and they will be picked from Quebec, Cornwall and Ottawa.

"I thought the amateur teams played well last season. They gave the public a great deal of action. The top admission price was 40 cents, while with special coupons one could attend the games for 25 cents. I think this was also very important as it put the contests within the reach of everybody.

"I think professional hockey will also have a big season. The Bruins will get underway about November 5. The dates have not yet been set, but I believe there will not be many changes from former year.

"The Bruins will have a young hockey club. Eddie Shore and Tiny Thompson will be the only veterans in the regular lineup. Hockey, like other sports, is a game for youth."

Has Hope for Boxing Comeback

BROWN IS confident there will be a comeback in professional boxing in Boston.

"Amateur boxing," said Walter, "is sure to be successful. The Hearst All-American shows last year were the high spots in boxing promotion in the Garden. They produced stirring action, and good boxing.

"I attended the recent Armstrong-Ambers bout in New York. The big crowd at the affair proved that the public will turn out for boxing if offered the right kind of an attraction.

"I was thrilled by the bout, and felt Ambers made a great finish. At the time the decision was rendered I thought the officials could have given it to Ambers, but later when I gave the match more serious consideration I decided that the verdict had been correct.

"Armstrong had the edge in the first two rounds other than those sessions he lost by unintentional foot hitting. Ambers came with a terrific rush during the past four rounds, and I thought he carried those sessions.

"In the early rounds, Armstrong was able to rush Ambers to the ropes and keep him there. During the closing rounds, Ambers would slip along the ropes, and hit Armstrong with both hands.

"Boxing has been going well in New York, and this condition will help the ring game here. There are many boxers who have made good in New York who will be anxious to show in Boston during the indoor season.

"We also have been developing some top boxers, and they will be prepared to take on the invading ring men."

Budge Ailment Hushed; May Cost U. S. Davis Cup

Semi-Finals On At Longwood Today

By WALTER KILEY

Those few tennis folks who knew of it, Captain Walter Pate of the United States Davis Cup team, in particular, are more than a bit concerned with the ailing physical condition of Donald Budge.

While the California red-head, world's ranking tennis player, has been saying little about it, it is a fact that Budge has been paying court to one of those bad backs which crop up often in the sporting realm and a general run-down condition in the bargain.

Generally attributed to infected teeth, it is a fact that these handicaps have seriously hampered his national doubles court performances at Longwood this week.

Pate, very much wrapped up with America's successful defense of the Davis Cup in the German town matches with Australia over Labor Day, sees Don's return to normalcy as the probable deciding factor, just as it might well be if he and Gene Mako are to survive today's semi-final match against Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn at Longwood and the final with one of the two remaining Australian teams tomorrow.

Fortunately, Budge felt much the better today for his long, daily massage treatments, a downtown Boston masseur having worked out many of the troublesome kinks and loosened up his system.

Up to this stage, interested parties have been keeping any infirmities under cover, because they were none too anxious to have opponents bombarding him with shots which might aggravate the trouble.

Whatever develops in today's semifinals in the men's division, an American-Australian final is assured.

Because two domestic, two Aussie teams are battling each other in this afternoon's semifinals, a pair of matches with great possibilities in high grade performances. And it's more than a good guess that a similar final will be the fortune in the women's finals.

Alice Marble and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fryman are already into the home wire, waiting for today's second semi-final match which finds the Aussie Nancy Wynne and Thelma Coyne clashing with the mixed foreign team, Mme. Rene Mathieu of France and Mile. Jadwiga Jedrzejowska of Poland.

Bill Stewart

The Bees may not pack as much punch as the Sox but with 'Old Case' at the helm, they'll beat better clubs by outsmarting them. The robins will have returned in the spring before Bill McKeehlle recovers from the shock of yesterday's double setback. It's tough to lose two in one afternoon under any circumstances. But when a club gets knocked off in the 12th of the first encounter and is beaten after leading 2 to 0 with two down and nobody on in the 9th, the old morale does a nose dive.

NANCY WYNNE

THELMA COYNE

Nancy Wynne and Thelma Coyne of Australia chew on a leg of mutton before encountering Mme. Rene Mathieu and Jadwiga Jedrzejowska in semifinals of U. S. doubles at Longwood today. Australians are favored over the French-Polish combination.

While speculation is rife as to the outcome of the Budge-Mako vs. Allison-Van Ryn match, one which finds the Texans with many backers, an unusual case and a delicate one arises in the battle between the two teams from the Antipodes.

For Quist and Bromwich, undefeated since they took to teaming some 25 matches ago, a way back there in October last year, have already been named as Davis Cup contenders, with a defeat by their lesser known and less regarded teammates Hopman and Schwartz today, putting them in an embarrassing position.

Maroons Drop Out of N. L. Loop

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (INS)—

The National Hockey League today was prepared to operate with seven clubs next year, following the suspension of the Montreal Maroons franchise for one year at the request of the Maroons' officials.

The officials asked for the suspension after the board had voted against transfer of the franchise to St. Louis because the Maroons had been deserted by many Montreal fans in favor of Les Canadiens.

The board based its refusal on a clause which gave St. Louis interests the right to return the team to Montreal if they so decided.

The teams remaining in the league will be Chicago, New York Rangers and Americans, Boston, Detroit, Toronto and Les Canadiens.

SOX SPELL POWER—B'S OUTSMART FOES

By BILL GRIMES

When they're in a hitting mood, the Red Sox are more powerful than even the Yankees. . . . It's just too bad for opposing chockers when the Croninets open up the offensive throttle.

The Bees may not pack as much punch as the Sox but with 'Old Case' at the helm, they'll beat better clubs by outsmarting them. The robins will have returned in the spring before Bill McKeehlle recovers from the shock of yesterday's double setback. It's tough to lose two in one afternoon under any circumstances. all the medals he won in track meets. . . . They were on display in the store window of a friend of Joe's, when they were nipped.

Take one guess and see if you can name the well known business man, who gave a caddy at Bretton Woods, N. H., $25.00 for two day's work on the links. . . . He has never forgotten that he was a bag totter at Poland Springs and Bretton Woods while a member of the South End Boy's Club.

FITZPATRICK A PRO

Jimmy Fitzpatrick, the former Boston College all around athlete, who has been coaching at Portland High School for 18 years, is the pro at Larry Rowe's course in South Portland, Me.

Horton Smith, Harry Cooper, Jimmie Thomson and Lawson Little are playing an exhibition match at the Norway, Me. Country Club today. . . . They arranged the date as a favor to their friend, Eddie Bush, the home pro.

Among the golfers that watched the Spalding foursome yesterday at the Riverside Golf Club, down in Portland, were Johnny Levinson, the former New England amateur titleholder and John E. Brown, who played in the 1936 Hearst at Wellston.

Joe 'Tweet' Walsh has returned to the Hartford Bees, who, incidentally, have jumped from last to third place in the Eastern League.

Over the last week-end, the Hartford Bees played to more than 9000. . . . Pres. John J. Quinn is looking for an experienced pitcher to send to Hartford.

Maxie Rosenbloom has a movie contract calling for $300 per week for one year, with a seven year option.

Manager Bill Stewart states that the Chicago Black Hawks have players and $25,000 to strengthen the club. . . . He wants a line right wingers. . . . So do all the other N. H. L. managers.

Armstrong Tells Success Secrets

Unlimited Stamina Plus Tough Skin
And Willingness to Learn Send
Henry to Top of Fight Ladder

This is the sixth in a series of thirteen articles of Henry Armstrong, called by experts "the greatest fighter for his weight" in the ring today. Carried to the top of his profession by intelligent perseverance, "Hammering Henry" will tell an intimate story of the struggle that brought him the three championships of the world.

By HENRY ARMSTRONG

(World Featherweight, Welterweight and Lightweight Champion)
(Copyright, 1933, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Before passing on from him all together, I'd like to say that of all the men I've met in nearly 10 years of fighting, the toughest was and is that same Baby Arizemendi over whom I made my first big step. He has a peculiar boxing style which gives you little except arms to punch at; he is clever, he hits with some power and he seems to be absolutely impervious to a punch.

I learned plenty from him in our fights, part of this education being that it is virtually impossible to knock him out. For one thing he has a 17½ neck, which is so short that his head sits almost on his shoulders. About the only way you could drop him would be with a hammer.

From him I received my first lesson in the importance of keeping your chin tucked in close, and against him I began effectively to feint and bob and punch from all angles. So while, officially, the best I have been able to do with the little Mexican Baby is two victories in our two most recent stints against two previous defeats, melting him has become of some educational value.

In fact, you learn something from every fight. I'm still learning and, I hope, getting better all the time. I seem to be punching harder than ever before and boxing more smoothly and that's all I can ask.

UNLIMITED STAMINA

As I said before I seldom or never feel a punch even slightly. I have unlimited stamina and I believe I could fight 50 rounds almost at top speed. Also, I have very tough skin that seldom is bruised or cut, and I have a good strong pair of hands.

Lately my right has been bothering me a little because for a while I fought too often and bruised my knuckles. I never gave them a chance to heal thoroughly before I was back in the ring being away again at somebody's ring; but it is nothing serious—nothing that a rest won't cure and now that the Ambers maul is over I expect to get that, unless I defend my featherweight title right away.

And that's another thing I'd like to clear up here and now. I positively can still make the featherweight limit of 126 pounds, although I did box and beat Barney Ross for the welterweight championship, I am so constituted that I can take off or put on weight almost at will without affecting my fighting to any appreciable extent.

It would be especially easy for me to make the featherweight limit in California, where I probably will defend that championship. The air seems to drier out there, and it just naturally is easier to make weight. However, I really am at my very best at about 133 or 134 pounds, and that will be my fighting weight from now on, except when I am in there against featherweights.

I'll have to train off seven or eight pounds for that, and against writers I will always be as much as 10 or 12 pounds light.

So I really am a legitimate lightweight.

Henry Armstrong will have another article on his amazing ring career in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.

Slug Shop Owner In Strike Disorder

(See Picture Pages)

A garment shop owner was slugged today and police feared further violence was imminent as striking garment workers continued mass picketing in Kneeland street, South End.

After metal washers and other missiles had been dropped on pickets from upper windows of nearby buildings, strike leaders obtained a supply of steel trench helmets.

These were donned by more than 100 of the pickets.

The slugging victim was Albert Orlov, 25, of Waunbeck street, Roxbury.

He told police he was hit from behind as he stood talking with a friend at Kneeland and Washington streets.

He was treated at City Hospital for lacerations of the ear and scalp, apparently inflicted by brass knuckles.

Orlov said he was proprietor of the Regent garment manufacturing shop, one of the establishments against which the strike was called.

Two police sergeants, two members of the headquarters Red squad and eight uniformed patrolmen were assigned to the strike area today, as new clashes between pickets and would-be workers loomed.

Double lines of pickets, in close rank, paraded before entrances to the building in which 11 garment shops are located.

U.S. Curtly Tells Mexico to Pay

By ROBERT G. NIXON

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—The United States today served blunt notice on Mexico that seizures of American properties must cease and that immediate arrangements must be made to pay for lands already confiscated.

In a formal note, Secretary of State Hull accused the Mexican government of a breach of international obligation, of bad faith and of deliberately confiscating American properties under the legalistic disguise of expropriation without intention of paying for them.
